Photography enthusiasts and eBay sellers (who photograph their wares to sell online) will love the Cubelite package, which provides professional-looking lighting wherever you may be snapping. Even unappealing objects such as that unwanted Christmas wristwatch can be made to look desirable. Available in sizes from 2ft to more than 6ft, the Cubelite springs open to create a lightweight, easily portable light tent. It comes with a lamp, stand and instructions. Light your subject from outside and the tent's translucent material diffuses the light to prevent shadows or reflections. It is exceptionally simple to set up and operate — trial and error quickly tells the user when the light is where it is wanted. The Cubelite may not be particularly cheap, but if you have a few pricey items to get rid of, it will pay its way. (For a guide to getting rid of Christmas gifts see Webwise, page 26-27.)
